

Supplemental Figure 1. Tissue volume is significantly correlated to multiple parameters of pulmonary physiology. Non-linear regressions were performed comparing the tissue volumes derived from micro-CT imaging against various parameters of pulmonary function and mechanics. Spearman's correlation analyses were applied to these regressions. Resulting statistics are listed in Supplementary Table 1. ● = WT, x = TNF-Tg, n=12 per genotype.